TARIFF WILL BE
ISSUE OF CAMPAIGNThe Democratic Party Will be For Tariff Revision.Senator Bailey, of Texas, Says it is Too Early to Discuss Conditions, But the Tariff will Undoubtedly be the Issue.

Washington, April 13.—Among prominent arrivals in Washington on Saturday was Senator Bailey of Texas. He registered at the Riggs House, and was soon surrounded by a group of friends, newspaper men and others. The Senator is in Washington en route to New York city for the purpose of having his throat treated by a specialist at that city, and he will remain over here for a few days looking after some of his important matters pending before the executive departments.

Senator Bailey was seen at the Riggs House and he looks well and appears to be in even more robust health than he was during the last session of Congress which adjourned in March. Aside from his old throat trouble, which causes him considerable annoyance, he says he is in better health than he has been for several months.

In discussing various subjects of interest, the Senator said that the next Democratic campaign will be fought upon the tariff issue. The Democratic party in the House and Senate will go on record favoring tariff revision at the coming session. The Senator, in reply to a question, said it is too early to discuss candidates for the Presidential nomination, saying, "Many booms will be inflated and burst before the convention meets."

YOUTSEY IMPLICATED IN THE GOEBEL
MURDERThe Accused now in the Penitentiary
Undergoing a Sentence.

Frankfort, Ky. April 13.—Opening statements in the John Howard trial were made by Ben G. Williams, for the Commonwealth, and Judge James Andrew Scott, for the defense. Scott alleged that Youtsey, now serving a life term, was the man who killed Goebel. Youtsey was a personal friend of Scott's family prior to the assassination, and Scott was his attorney for a while after the former Newport man was accused of complicity in the assassination. Williams, in his statement, alleged that Howard was in the Secretary of State's office, from which the fatal shot is alleged to have been fired, and that he made a remark that what he wanted "for this job is a pardon for killing George Baker." He said Howard talked freely of the killing in Clay County to a deputy, who will testify against him.

The defense today called Arthur Goebel, Civil Engineer D. M. Woodson was the first Commonwealth witness.

To Erect Steel Plant to Cost $10,000,000.

Baltimore, April 11.—Ex-Senator McLaughlin, of South Carolina, in an interview printed here, says the Mohawk Valley Steel company, of which he is vice president, has let contracts for the building of an immense iron and steel plant at Brunswick, Ga., to cost $10,000,000. The president of the Mohawk Steel company is F. Unstead, of New York.

Ex-Senator McLaughlin has been elected president of the Brunswick & Birmingham Construction company, which is closely identified with the Mohawk Steel Co.

Floating Battery for Coast Defense.

New York, April 11.—Anson Phelps Stokes, the millionaire and philanthropist, has invented a floating battery designed for coast defense. It is spherical in form and resembles in some respects the famous Popoff and Novgorod of the Russian navy. The battery is intended to be constructed of steel and to carry two guns of large calibre or one great gun. Small guns may be mounted on the upper deck. Mr. Stokes' design contemplates holding the guns rigid. They can be elevated or depressed only by tilting the whole vessel by means of counterpoises.

Unlike the Russian batteries, Mr. Stokes makes no provision for self-propulsion. The inventor claims that his battery is economical in construction and maintenance of great power in offensive operations, practically impregnable and free from the disadvantages attending previous designs of a similar character.

MARIE CORELLI

Writes for
"THE PHILADELPHIA PRESS"
Sunday, April 19, On
"THE BIRD SNATCHERS"

A savage, unbridled attack on those who have given and propose to give memorials at the Home of Shakespeare. Miss Corelli is nothing if not sensational when she champions a cause, and in this vigorous "appeal" she flays everybody who holds opinions different from hers on the subject and attacks generous Americans, including the late George W. Childs and Andrew Carnegie.

Read it in next Sunday's "Philadelphia Press," April 19.

To the Members of Brown Harman Camp of C. V.

You are requested to meet at the court house the first day of the April court, 1903, to elect delegates to the Re-union to be held at New Orleans May 19th, and transact such other business as may be necessary.

Attest, By order of James O'Keefe, M. J. R. R. Henry
Adj. Commander.

HEARD FROM AGAIN.

This Time a Good Report From Former Citizen of Tazewell.

A few days ago we were handed by a friend the following clipping from an Oklahoma paper. It refers to a man who was once a citizen of the county, and whose last days here were attended with misfortune and suffering:

"James Harrison is a living sample of what a man can do in Oklahoma. He came here about four years ago, with only a few dollars in money and a small bunch of cattle. He filed on a claim, fenced it, built a small box house, his improvements costing not over $300 or $400, sold his farm a few days ago for $3,800 and can cash out for $7,000 or more. That is not only what a man has done but what he can do in Oklahoma, and what many are doing."

This James Harrison in the year 1890 or 1891 shot and killed a man by the name of John Robinson in Thompson Valley in this county. The morning of the day on which the killing took place Robinson had gone to the home of Harrison, had entered his yard and drew a pistol, threatening to kill Harrison, if he opened his lips. In the afternoon Harrison had gone to attend a burial in the neighborhood; and when he was returning home he met with James Robinson, they became involved in a difficulty, which resulted in the shooting and killing of Robinson. For some reason Harrison deemed it best not to remain here and stand his trial. He left the country, and went to Harrison county, Missouri, where he remained until the Summer of 1895. His mother, who lived in Carroll county, Va., was very aged, perhaps ninety years old. She was declining rapidly and expressed a desire to see her son before she died. He was written to and came on to see his mother. His wife's relatives, who were then living in Thompson Valley, heard of his visit to the State and wrote him to pay them a visit, expressing the opinion that he would not be indicted if he came to the county. Relying on this information, Harrison came to the county in August, 1895, to pay a brief visit to his wife's relatives. He was seen one day at the home of his mother-in-law, in Thompson Valley, and a brother-in-law of the deceased Robinson was informed. He came immediately to town, and a posse, consisting of Sheriff John W. Crockett, Deputy Sheriff James Bandy and Messrs. W. G. Young and G. R. Surface, went to the home of Harrison. The next morning before daylight they went to the house where Harrison had been reported as staying and made a search. Failing to find him, they went quickly to the house of a neighbor where they had reasons to suspect he might be found. Sure enough, he was there and he was arrested and brought to the court house.

Harrison was indicted and was tried at the October term, 1895, in the county court of Tazewell county. He was found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to confinement in the penitentiary for a term of 18 years. His counsel obtained a writ of error from the circuit court, and at the December term, 1895, Judge Williams, then judge of the circuit court, set aside the verdict and granted a new trial to the accused.

At the February term, 1896, of the county court Harrison was tried the second time. This was, perhaps, the most sensational murder trial that had ever been held in the county. Between the two trials a good deal of feeling had been injected into the case, even political lines, it is said, having been drawn. Harrison was a Republican and the man he killed was a Democrat. Certain leading Democrats were believed to have contributed funds to pay counsel to assist in the prosecution. This provoked the resentment of Republicans and their sympathy was immediately aroused for the accused defendant. During the progress of the second trial the court room was constantly filled with the partisans of the prosecution and defense, and feeling ran high. The lawyers who conducted the prosecution and defense were not sharers of the political partisan spirit that dominated the bystanders, the defendants counsel being mostly Democrats. But the intense feeling among the onlookers put the attorneys on their metal, and the case was contested with an intense spirit and zeal that is rarely seen in a court house.

At the second trial Harrison was acquitted. The Democrats charged that it was brought about by the pressure of politics. The Republicans disputed the charge, alleging that the jury which tried Harrison had been drawn by the trial judge, who was a most pronounced Democrat; and the jury declared that other legitimate reasons than political ones had influenced their decision. Harrison also swore that he had killed Robinson in self-defense, and had brought from Missouri the saddle he was riding and the pants he wore when the shooting took place. The saddle and pants had marks upon them which Harrison claimed were made by a pistol bullet that was fired by Robinson before he (Harrison) shot.

Soon after his acquittal Harrison returned to Missouri. From there, it seems he went to Oklahoma; and we take it for granted that even his partisan prosecutors, who were once ready to condemn him, will be glad to hear that he has been leading an industrious and commendable life in the West, and that he has prospered.

WARSHIP FLOATS.

Reina Christiana Which Dewey Sank in Manilla Bay.

Manila, April 13.—The warship Reina Christiana, the flagship of Admiral Montejó, which Dewey sank in Manila Bay, was floated and beached yesterday. The skeletons of about eight of her crew were found in the hull. One was evidently that of an officer, because he had his sword beside him. There are fifteen shell holes in the hull of the ship, one an eight-inch, the others of smaller gauge.

The main injection valve is missing, showing that the ship was scuttled when Montejó abandoned her.

The Spanish residents refused the offer of the Americans to give the skeleton an American funeral, so they will be taken to Spain by transport this summer.

FOUGHT FOR
THREE DAYSDesperate Battle Required of Pershing's Force.

FORTIFICATIONS ARE BOMBARDED.

Column Carried Forward a Bamboo Bridge
With Which to Cross Moat When Assault Was Made—Fighting
Inside Forts.

Manila, April 11.—The investment of Bacolod, Island of Mindanao, which was captured by Captain Pershing's forces, after a fight in which a hundred Moros were killed, occupied three days. The final assault was made at noon Wednesday. Desperate fighting took place inside the forts. Seven cannons were captured and eleven Americans wounded, a few of them seriously. It is probable that all the Americans will recover.

The column approached Bacolod early on Monday and found a new fort, which had been a year under construction, flying battle flags. The Moros did not wait to be attacked, but fired a volley, which wounded two Americans. Captain Pershing then decided to bombard the fortifications, and McNair's and Gately's batteries took up positions and shelled the forts and works until Wednesday morning, the infantry and cavalry supporting the attack. Many of the Moros left the forts on Monday and Tuesday nights, and escaped in boats on the lake. The assault on Wednesday was carefully prepared. The column moved forward on a bamboo bridge, on which the troops crossed the moat, under fire, and afterwards scaled the walls. The fighting inside the forts was most desperate. Sixty dead Moros were found inside the walls, and forty were killed in the trenches.

The whereabouts of the Sultan of Bacolod is not known. He is believed to have escaped Monday night.

Celebrated Case Again in Court.

One of the most celebrated divorce cases that was ever heard in the courts of Tazewell county was that of Heninger vs. Heninger. About the year 1891 or 1892 Mrs. Catherine Heninger brought a suit for absolute divorce against her husband, Samuel T. Heninger. It was one of the most stubbornly fought cases that was ever contested in our courts. A decree was finally obtained in the circuit court granting the plaintiff the divorce prayed for. The case was taken to the Supreme Court of Appeals, which court sustained the decree of the lower court in granting the divorce. At the December term, 1894, the circuit court entered a decree allowing alimony to the plaintiff, and fixing the amount to be paid her annually for the support of herself and five children at $1,000. There was no appeal from that decree, and since that time, until the present, Mr. Heninger has been complying with the decree of the court by paying over the $1,000 each year.

A few months ago he filed a petition in the circuit court, asking for a reduction in the amount of alimony, for reasons stated in said petition. This petition, which was prepared by Mr. H. C. Alderson as counsel for Mr. Heninger, we have heard, was a very strong paper. Fulton & Couling were subsequently associated with him as counsel for the petitioner, and Henry & Graham represented the respondents, Mrs. Heninger and her children.

On last Saturday the case was very ably argued before Judge Jackson by Mr. Alderson and Judge Couling for the petitioner and by Judge Graham for the respondents. Monday morning Judge Jackson rendered a decision in the case, and entered a decree reducing the alimony from $1,000 to $600.

WILL LIVE TO BE 200

Man at Twenty-five has Only Mental and Physical Growth of Child.

Delphia, Ind., April 13.—The town of Randor has a remarkable case of scientific and human interest in Clyde Harner, 25 years old, who, eminent physicians say will live to be 200 years old.

Dr. O. C. Campbell, one of Indiana's foremost medical men, insists that Harner will live to this extraordinary age owing to the peculiarities in his life and his slow but sure development.

Clyde Harner, though 25 years old, does not look older than a boy of 4 or 5. He is thirty six inches tall and weighs thirty-five pounds. At birth he was normal in weight and height. His parents are ordinary, every day, healthy persons. This man's mental and physical growth suddenly stopped when he was five years old, and he only developed to one-sixth the normal pace, so that to-day the age of 25 looks no older than the boy of 4 or 5. He eats but 3 meals a week, sleeps 25 hours at a stretch and plays for the same length of time before he retires. He is just learning the alphabet.

Harner is developing in every way, but at one-sixth the normal rate. His habits of eating and sleeping have not varied in 19 years.

As the years go by they have only one-sixth the usual effect on him, and this fact has been so apparent that it attracted the attention of Dr. Campbell about a year ago and caused him finally to announce that the little man would probably live two hundred years.

BOLD BURGLARY.

On last Sunday night some person or persons burglarized the clothing store of Harman & Bottinore and the drug store of John E. Jackson. These stores adjoin, and are in the center of the business part of the town.

The entrance to both of the stores was made at the rear and by a similar method. A hole was cut in each of the back doors, directly beneath the locks and bolts. It looks like the holes were cut with a large knife, or perhaps a sharp hatchet. The thief or thieves put their hand through the hole, turned the key in the lock and slid back the bolt that was on each of the doors.

The robbers were evidently familiar with the fastenings to the doors. They took nothing from the store of Harman & Bottinore, and must have been frightened away. Mr. Jackson suffered a small loss. There was a small sum in his cash drawer, perhaps four or five dollars, which was taken. The thieves also helped themselves to some fine cigars and drank a few bottles of extract of malt.

IMPORTANT BILL TO PREVENT RIOTS.

Introduced in House of Delegates by Mr.
W. L. Moore.

The Hon. W. L. Moore, who represents Tazewell county, has introduced a bill which is designed to prevent riots at mines when strikes are prevailing. If the passage and enforcement of such a law can accomplish the desired end it will be of great service.

The bill reads as follows:

Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia:

If any two or more persons conspire or combine together for the purpose of preventing, deterring or hindering any person or persons from working for, whomsoever he or they may please, or from pursuing any lawful trade, business, calling or avocation by the means of threats, menaces, intimidation or violence of any kind, or by means of destroying, concealing, carrying away or tampering with any property, real or personal, not their own, every such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not more than $500 or confined in jail not more than three months or both, in the discretion of the justice or jury trying the case; and in order to sustain a conviction hereunder, it shall not be necessary to prove that any act was done by such person or persons in pursuance of such conspiracy or combination.

2. If any person in pursuance of such combination or conspiracy, as mentioned in the section above, shall inflict any bodily injury or commit any violence upon another, or shall destroy, injure or take away or tamper with any property, real or personal, not his own, he shall be confined in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than ten years, or he may in the discretion of the jury, be fined not less than five nor more than five hundred dollars and be confined in jail not less than three nor more than twelve months. And if on the trial of any case under this section it be proved that one or more persons, besides the defendant, was present, aiding and abetting in the commission of the offense charged therein, it shall be presumed that such offense was committed in pursuance of such combination or conspiracy in the absence of satisfactory proof to the contrary. And all persons who shall be present, aiding and abetting, at the commission of any offense mentioned in this section, shall be deemed conspirators with the defendant, and shall be liable to the same punishment as the defendant.

3. No persons called as a witness for the Commonwealth on the trial of any persons for an offense mentioned in either of the two next preceding sections, shall be excused from answering any question which may be asked him as such witness, and would otherwise be legal and proper, on the ground that the answer to such question would or might degrade him, or expose him to punishment; but no such witness shall fully and truly answer all such questions as, may be asked him touching his connection with, or knowledge of such combination or conspiracy, or of the committing of the offense charged in the indictment, in pursuance of such combination or conspiracy, shall thereafter be prosecuted for the same offense concerning which he is so required to testify.

MONTEJO'S FLAGSHIP.

Grim Relic of the Battle of Manila Bay
Brought to Surface.

Manila, April 13.—The warship Reina Christina, flagship of Admiral Montejó, which was sunk by Admiral Dewey in Manila Bay, was floated and beached yesterday. The skeletons of about eighty of her crew were found in the hull. One skeleton was that of an officer, for it had a sword by its side.

There are fifteen shell-holes in the hull of the Reina Christina, one made by an eight-inch shell, and the others small. The main injection valve is missing, showing the ship was scuttled when Admiral Montejó abandoned her. The hull is in fair condition.

Captain Albert R. Couden, commanding the naval station at Cavite, took charge of the remains of the Spanish sailors, expressing a desire to give them an American naval funeral. The Spanish residents are anxious to ship the skeletons to Spain, and it is suggested that the United States transport Sumner convey them to Spain by way of the Suez canal in June.

A Wrecking Company is endeavoring to raise all the sunken Spanish warships.
